At the airport

Edinburgh Airport is served by a single terminal. International arrivals is situated at the west end of the building and domestic arrivals at the east. Recent developments at the airport include the construction of six new aircraft stands to help accommodate additional flights, and the reconfiguration of check-in and domestic arrivals in order to provide additional space.

A major project to double the size of the departure lounge and expand the security search area is underway. The £40m investment will provide new retail and catering outlets and more seating and circulation space.

Passengers can make use of Valet Parking at Edinburgh Airport, and Car Care offers a professional car wash service. Helping Hand is a service which can give personalised assistance to business associates or family members to smooth their way through the airport on arrival or departure. Passengers can pre-book use of a lounge in the departure area. There is also wireless internet access at several points before and after security control.
