George Heriot's School was founded in 1628 from the bequest of George Heriot, jeweller to King James VI. The Foundation still provides free education for fatherless children and the caring and academic traditions of the School continue strong for all its pupils. James Hardie Bursaries are also available for motherless 'bairns'. We provide a caring, well-disciplined education which encourages positive attitudes, a striving for excellence and a lasting appreciation for learning amongst our pupils. Through the curriculum, our vast range of extra-curricular activities and our distinctive approach to identifying children's learning styles and stretching their abilities, we want our pupils to make the most of their opportunities for self-development and discovery of their full potential.
