

Canterbury Christ Church University

Canterbury Christ Church University offers a wide range of undergraduate and postgraduate programmes, business support and facilities at its five campuses across Kent in Canterbury, Broadstairs, Medway, Tunbridge Wells and Folkestone.

Hall Place Enterprise Centre is on the outskirts of Canterbury and is home to the University's Centre for Enterprise and Business Development (CEBD) and the Department of Knowledge Transfer. It is the designated gateway for business support from Canterbury Christ Church University, providing a route to extensive resources including bespoke training, consultancy and research services. Business support programmes include: 'Healthy Business, Growing Business', a six-part programme focusing on the essentials for success which can be tailored to a specific sector, accredited courses in micro business management, foreign languages for business, and IT training.

The CEBD offers work placement opportunities for international and local students, with businesses benefiting from the valuable help that these students provide.

The Knowledge Transfer team can assist businesses with accessing a wide range of academic expertise including social sciences, health, education and business, via Knowledge Transfer Partnership (KTP). KTP is a UK-wide programme that helps businesses to improve their competitiveness and productivity through the use of knowledge, technology and skills that exist within academic institutions.

The Faculty of Business and Management has expertise across a wide range of business related subjects, including: marketing, retail, accounting, advertising and HR management. The Centre for Leadership and Management Development provides high quality consultancy services in the areas of leadership, management and organisational development.

The University also offers a range of meeting and conference facilities with dedicated and professional conference staff. St Martin's Priory, a refurbished Grade II listed building in Canterbury, provides high quality conference and meeting rooms. Set in 36 acres, Salomons is an exclusive, secluded conference venue within minutes of Tunbridge Wells. Hall Place Enterprise Centre offers top quality facilities for business events in Canterbury.
