

Burrows Business Guides – the perfect promotional tool for your area

A Burrows Business Guide can be the perfect way to bring business partners from the public and private sector together to showcase their services for your business community. The business readership, your future clients and colleagues, will benefit from having contacts, information and advice at their fingertips; the area meanwhile, will benefit from a professional glossy guide designed to promote the business and investment opportunities in the region.

Whether offering business advice to new start-ups or promoting the area to outside investors, Burrows' editorial contributors are drawn from across the business community and offer expertise and advice on topics as diverse as future developments in the region, education and training, business networking opportunities, sustainable business and more.

Funded by advertising, Burrows Business Guides offer companies large and small the perfect profile among the industry leaders who support their business environment. The guides are supported by online content which means that the Burrows Business Guide's readership is not confined to the business communities of the areas they seek to promote.

If you think your business would benefit from being involved in future editions of Burrows Business Guides, then do get in contact to find out what opportunities are available – but hurry, editorial, distribution and advertising opportunities are limited!
